A more environmentally friendly solution

Pre-packaged bottled water is extremely damaging to the environment

- Approximately 80% of the water bottles end up in landfills
- Plastic bottles in landfill can take several hundred years to decompose
- To produce one litre of bottled water, three litres of water are wasted
- By 2025 estimates are that there will be one ton of plastic in the ocean for every three tons of fish
- Each litre of bottled water produces between 100 and 160 grams of the major greenhouse gas, such as carbon dioxide
